

03051/85

13 JUN 1985

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

VIA: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence
Deputy Director for Intelligence ✓

FROM:
Director of Global Issues

SUBJECT: Thank-You Letters to Speakers at Conference on
Structural Change

1. Action: Your signature on the attached letters.

2. Background: Our 3-4 June conference on Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change was successful in large part due to the time and effort given by our invited speakers and panel members from the academic community, research institutions, and private industry. Letters of thanks to these individuals are attached; the letters are identical with the exception of references in the second sentence to the specific topics that were addressed by each.

3. These individuals had initially received letters of invitation from you. Your personal involvement in expressing appreciation for their efforts will convey the importance the Agency attaches to the subject of the conference, and to possible follow-up work we might undertake.

Attachments:
As stated

B-300

SUBJECT: Thank-You Letters to Speakers at Conference on
Structural Change

Distribution:

Original - Addressee

1 - DDCI

1 - Ex. Reg.

1 - DDI

1 - ADDI

1 - D/OGI

1 - C/CTID/CF

STAT

DDI/OGI/CTID/CF/ (6 Jun 85)

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D. C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. Leo Cherne
Executive Director
Research Institute of America, Inc.
New York, New York 10017

Dear Leo:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the determinants of structural change and its inevitability were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey
William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. James R. Schlesinger
Georgetown Center for Strategic and International Studies
Washington, D.C. 20006

Dear Jim:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the assessment of structural change from the standpoint of intelligence analysis were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D. C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Professor Robert E. Baldwin
University of Wisconsin
Madison, Wisconsin 53706

Dear Professor Baldwin:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on structural change, adjustment and protectionism were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

JUN 1985

Professor Mordechai E. Kreinin
Michigan State University
East Lansing, Michigan 48824

Dear Professor Kreinin:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the determinants of structural change and its consequences for international competitiveness were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey
William J. Casey

Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Mr. Howard Rosen
Institute for International Economics
11 Dupont Circle, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036

Dear Mr. Rosen:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on structural change, adjustment and protectionism were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D. C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Professor Kent Calder
Princeton University
Princeton, New Jersey 08540

Dear Professor Calder:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural change for Third World economies were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. Peter Morici
National Planning Association
1616 P Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036

Dear Dr. Morici:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural change for the Third World economies were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D. C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. Michael Aho
Council on Foreign Relations
58 East 68th Street
New York, New York 10021

Dear Dr. Aho:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural change for the Western alliance were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Professor Robert W. Campbell
Indiana University
Bloomington, Indiana 47405

Dear Professor Campbell:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural change for East-West relations were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey
William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Professor Stephen D. Krasner
Stanford University
Stanford, California 94305

Dear Professor Krasner:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the security implications of structural change in terms of strategic vulnerability and dependence were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. C. Fred Bergsten, Director
Institute for International Economics
Washington, D.C. 20036

Dear Dr. Bergsten:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on structural change and international competitiveness were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Professor Klaus Knorr
Princeton University
Princeton, New Jersey 08540

Dear Professor Knorr:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the security implications of structural change in terms of strategic vulnerability and dependence were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D. C. 20505

14 JUL 1987

Professor Robert Gilpin
Princeton University
Princeton, New Jersey 08540

Dear Professor Gilpin:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural change for the Western alliance were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey
William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. Roy E. Moor
Senior Vice President and Chief Economist
The First National Bank of Chicago
Chicago, Illinois 60670-0476

Dear Dr. Moor:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on structural change in the industrialized countries were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Mr. Peter G. Peterson
Chairman
Peterson, Jacobs and Company
New York, New York 10152

Dear Mr. Peterson:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on structural change and the future of the international economic system were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

JUN 1985

Professor Charles P. Kindleberger
Box 306
Lincoln Center, Massachusetts 01773

Dear Professor Kindleberger:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the determinants of structural change and its consequences for international competitiveness were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Professor Robert Keohane
Brandeis University
Waltham, Massachusetts 02154

Dear Professor Keohane:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural change for the Western alliance were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Professor Raymond Vernon
Harvard College
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138

Dear Professor Vernon:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural economic change for East-West relations were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Mr. James Fallows

Dear Mr. Fallows:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on structural change in the US economy were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. Richard Feinberg
Vice President
Overseas Development Council
Washington, D.C. 20036

Dear Dr. Feinberg:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural change for Third World economies were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. John L. McLucas
Executive Vice President and
Chief Strategic Officer
Communications Satellite Corporation
Washington, D.C. 20024

Dear Dr. McLucas:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the security implications of structural change in terms of strategic vulnerability and dependence were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Dr. John P. Hardt
Associate Director
Congressional Research Service
Library of Congress
Washington, D.C. 20540

Dear Dr. Hardt:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the implications of structural change for East-West relations were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey
William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D. C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Professor Paul R. Krugman
Department of Economics
Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139

Dear Professor Krugman:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on the determinants of structural change and adjustment to competition in the industrialized countries were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

14 JUN 1985

Mr. Robert J. Samuelson
Newsweek Magazine
1750 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20006

Dear Mr. Samuelson:

I extend to you my sincere appreciation for your participation in our 3-4 June conference on the Economic and Security Implications of Structural Change. Your views and observations on structural change in the US economy were of considerable interest to your audience. I know from subsequent discussions with attendees that you presented a number of points which stimulated internal thinking. This, of course, is one of the important objectives we hoped to achieve from this conference and for that we are especially thankful.

I hope that you found this experience as rewarding as we did and that you would be agreeable to participate in future Agency-sponsored conferences on economic and security issues of concern to policymakers.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence